MAN WHO HAD PAIR ARRESTED LANDS IN JAIL

Los Angeles Promoter Held On Bad Check Charge, Says Duke City Attorney, Back From Coast.

E. S. Bradley, California promoter, who caused the arrest here of Miss Madeline Williams and W. A. Murray on charges of absconding with an undetermined sum of his money, is himself behind the bars in a Los Angeles jail.

This information was brought here yesterday by George Taylor, Albuquerque attorney, who went to the coast city last week to defend Miss Williams and Murray when they were taken back to answer charges against them.

Bradley, according to Taylor, is held on a charge of giving a worthless check in payment for the thrilling aeroplane ride he took to his home the night of the general melee described in Los Angeles papers.

Mr. Taylor said that charges against his clients would probably be dropped. Bradley's attorneys, he said, made several overtures to him to "forget the whole matter."

But Miss Williams and Murray have declared they will stay in jail from now on to prosecute charges developing against Bradley in connection with his many promotion schemes.

Mr. Taylor was on one of the trains delayed by the washouts near Kingman, Ariz. The tracks were damaged for about ten miles, he said and had to proceed very slowly through this sector after the damage had been repaired.

TWO ARE FINED FOR VIOLATING SANITARY LAWS

J. G. Albright, owner of the building at Third street and Copper avenue, and Mrs. Mary Chapman, who runs the rooming house on the second floor of the building, were fined $5 each in police court yesterday afternoon on charges of failing to keep the premises free from trash and debris.

Charges were brought by City Health Officer Earl Bowditch, who testified that repeated notices to clean up had been disregarded.

Judge McClellan assessed the minimum fine, but said that it will be increased if the property is not put in a sanitary condition immediately.

Health officers testified that ashes had been dumped in the rear of the building and that garbage was thrown into the alley by tenants of the rooming house. Mrs. Chapman, the landlady, denied blame for this but the ordinance held her responsible for actions of the tenants, the court held.

OUR DAILY QUESTION

What do you think of Governor Cox's acceptance speech?

A. G. Simms, president Citizens' National bank. (Democrat): "The speech of Governor Cox was particularly strong and gratifying in the question of the treaty and the league of nations. This paramount issue will now have to be decided by the people, which is what every democrat should want to see happen."

Fred B. Heyn, county road superintendent. (Republican): "The democratic candidate has endorsed the Wilson policies. Republicans will welcome this opportunity to go before the people on the issue of Mr. Wilson's statesmanship. He has made the chief issue on America's future stand in affairs of foreign nations. The people can let it be known whether they want America to remain an independent country or whether they wish to mingle in affairs of Europe."

T. J. Mabry, attorney. (Democrat): "It was a great speech. It challenges our national pride and patriotism. Cox displays the stuff he is made of when he takes the only thoroughly American and honorable position upon the question of the treaty and keeping faith with our allies in the late war. It at least can't be said there is no issue."

John W. Wilson, attorney. (Republican): "Governor Cox has made the league of nations the paramount issue. He devoted about two columns of his acceptance speech to this topic. On domestic problems that concern America he said but little. I believe that Senator Harding's acceptance speech dealt with the problems next to the heart of Americans in a much more complete and satisfactory manner. Governor Cox's attitude is strained toward internationalism."

W. W. McClellan, judge of municipal court. (Democrat): "The address was a masterpiece. It is based on the principles of democracy. Thomas Jefferson himself could not have written a better speech of acceptance. The arraignment of the republican party, particularly the reference to pre-convention campaign expenditures, with cost Mr. Harding's acceptance, is a much better way than the republican candidate. The result of the speech will be to drag Mr. Harding from his front porch at Marion and force him to make an active campaign."
